Adult Volunteers Restore the Greentop Stable while “Vacationing” in Catoctin Mountain Park

By Debbie Mills, CFA Program Director

Vacations are usually a time for rest and relaxation, but adult volunteers from the Nappanee, Indiana area are redefining the meaning of relaxation. The 5th annual Indiana Amish Anabaptist Service Program (IAASP) youth work crew had barely reached Indiana when four adult couples boarded the Capitol Express and headed for Catoctin Mountain Park to begin restoration of the Camp Greentop Stable.

Built in 1980, the stable housed horses used by National Park Service Law Enforcement Rangers to patrol trails and remote areas of Catoctin Mountain Park. Volunteers and National Park Staff partnered with the League for People with Disabilities to establish the Camp Greentop Recreational Riding for the Disabled Program in 1981. While it changed throughout the years, the Greentop riding program continued after the NPS stopped housing horses in the stable in the mid 1990's. The program served hundreds of campers with special needs each season until 2016 when the program was discontinued after years of deferred maintenance rendered the stable unsuitable for this use.

As Catoctin Mountain Park's official Friends group, the Catoctin Forest Alliance is partnering with the National Park Service to rebuild and restore the Camp Greentop Stable. Undeterred by 3 days of rain, the group of skilled craftsmen associated with the Indiana Amish Anabaptist Service Program removed and replaced the stable roof and 75% of the siding between March 27 and April 6. Materials for the project were purchased with funding from the Catoctin Area Civitan Club, Trail Riders of Today, Foundation for Children with Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities Grant and donations from local benefactors.

Repairing the leaking roof is an essential step toward total restoration of the facility but it is just the beginning. The CFA fund raising committee will continue efforts to secure funding needed to repair the stable interior and to provide seed money to assure continuation of the League for People with Disabilities Camp Greentop Riding Program. Rumor has it that more adults will be coming to Catoctin in October to have fun finishing the stable project.

Indiana Volunteers Continue a Tradition of Service to Catoctin Mountain Park

By Debbie Mills, CFA Program Director

Following what has become a tradition, a work crew from the Indiana Amish Anabaptist Service Program (IAASP) of Nappanee, Indiana, volunteered at Catoctin Mountain Park for the month of March, 2017. Now in its fifth year, the program is known locally as the “Amish.”

The work crew consisting of 8 young men from 18-24 years old and an adult work leader donated their time and talents from February 27 through March 24. As with previous crews, their contributions dramatically reduced the maintenance backlogs on historic cabins at Camp Greentop. This year’s crew removed and replaced four Camp Greentop cabin floors, removed modern additions to Camp Greentop’s Good Luck Lodge, removed and replaced a wood shake roof and restored the interior the Camp Greentop Staff Quarters. An adult couple and the work leader’s wife kept the lively group fed.

While a national agreement between the Selective Service and the IAASP excuses young Amish men from the military, the IAASP volunteer service initiative allows draft age males from the Nappanee area to demonstrate their dedication and respect for this country through volunteer service. For some, the trip to Maryland is a once in a lifetime experience, but it is not without sacrifice. The IAASP committee provides transportation and meals for the duration of the project. Crew members take leave from paying jobs in RV factories, carpentry shops and on farms, losing a month’s income while volunteering their talents in service to the National Park Service.

The Catoctin Forest Alliance is instrumental to the overall success of the IAASP/Catoctin Mountain Park Partnership. CFA President Jim Robbins works with the Amish and the park throughout the year to schedule projects and interactions with the IAASP Committee. CFA members provide logistical support for the Amish crew from their arrival at the train station in Harpers Ferry until their departure. Support activities include: transportation to and from the train station, daily transportation to and from the job site, transportation for daily grocery and occasional shopping trips as well as local field trips and trips to Washington, DC and Gettysburg.

A chance match made by former National Volunteer Coordinator Joy Pietschman brought the Amish to Catoctin. An invisible link, extending from Maryland to Indiana demonstrates the true meaning of partnership as Amish work crews, Catoctin Mountain Park staff and members of the Catoctin Forest Alliance celebrate commonalities, establish enduring friendships and work towards the common goal of preserving historic resources.

Previous work crews have completed projects including: returning Camp Misty Mount Cabin 16 (the former infirmary) to its historic configuration, restoring a Camp Misty Mount Lodge, and replacing floors in 6 Camp Greentop cabins. Other groups replaced the Visitor Center lobby ceiling as an emergency repair after a broken pipe closed the building, painted a Ranger residence and Camp Round Meadow dorms, and built handicapped ramps at Camp Round Meadow.

Camp CATOCTIN Resumes with Spring Field Trips

By Debbie Mills, CFA Program Director

In 2016, an Every Kid in the Park grant from the National Park Foundation allowed the Catoctin Forest Alliance to provide a week-long Summer day camp for 43 Carroll County fourth graders and Fall field trips for nearly 1000 4th grade students from Frederick County. The CFA version of Every Kid in a Park programs is known locally as "Camp CATOCTIN" (Children ATtaining Objective Critical Thinking Inspired by Nature.)

The CFA/NPS partnership's successful bid for a second Every Kid in the Park grant is making it possible to provide spring field trips for Frederick County fourth graders and Carroll County day camp in June.

Fall field trips allowed students to participate in a Forensic Lab where they identified plant and animal specimens, a scavenger hunt that encouraged students to independently search for examples of living things, and a tree walk highlighting examples of tree characteristics. These activities supported the classification science unit.

Since schools were likely to be teaching a different science unit, a social studies option is offered for Spring field trips. Orchard Grove Elementary accepted this offer for 2017's first field trip on April 13. The Social Studies option places students in an area where charcoal making and alcohol production took place in the 18th and 19th centuries helping them better comprehend challenges of working and surviving during the Revolutionary War period.

The Orchard Grove classes learned about people who worked at the Catoctin Iron Furnace and how alcohol production was essential for the survival of early settlers. Instructors from National Park Service were Rangers Peggie Gaul and Tim Iverson. Catoctin Forest Alliance members Daryl Depres and Debra Mills guided students around the Charcoal Trail to explain the process of charcoal production and to tell students how the 10 plate stoves and munitions produced at the Catoctin Furnace made life better for citizens and helped our country gain independence.

Camp CATOCTIN will continue in May with additional Frederick County Elementary School field trips. Three schools have scheduled dates, but greater participation is anticipated before school ends. The Summer Day Camp for Carroll County Students will take place at various locations in Catoctin Mountain Park from June 26 through June 30.

The future of the National Park Foundation Every Kid in a Park grant program is uncertain at this time. However, Camp CATOCTIN has received positive reviews from teachers, National Park Service Staff and Catoctin Forest Alliance members. Frederick County Public School Board of Education President, Brad Young reviewed the program and offered his support. It is CFA's intention to expand Camp CATOCTIN next school year with more field trips and the inclusion of local college interns and retired teachers who will help make the program even more responsive to the needs of classroom teachers. CFA is applying for additional grant money and will be seeking addition sponsorship for future educational programs for school groups.

Earth Celebration Day and Festival of Art 2017

For an afternoon of educational outreach, art, music, food and earth friendly activities, plan to attend this celebration on Saturday April 29th 11:00am until 4:00pm at Renfrew Park in Waynesboro, PA. CFA will have a booth at the celebration. If you would be interested in helping to man our booth for whatever time you have available, please contact Debbie Mills at debbiemills11770@gmail.com.

From the Desk of the President, Jim Robbins

CFA has been very busy. We are into the 2017 Every Kid in the Park again this year and will have our first program this month. Please see the article on the previous page about the program.

The Friends of Maryland State Parks and CFA are in the process of working together with the guidance of Mel Poole who is working closely with the organization. We had the Amish with us during the month of March, please see the articles on page one and two about their visit and stay with us. They accomplished a great deal and had a wonderful time. We look forward to another group next year. This year we also had four Amish couples with us for about 2 weeks to do work on the stable at Greentop. With the help of a grant from the Foundation for Children with Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities Chesapeake District, Civitan International, Inc., and individual donations work was started on the stable at Greentop. Our first Artist in Residence will arrive in Catoctin Mountain Park in May and then summer will be upon us.

We are always looking for membership and friends to help us grow and help us with projects. We understand that everyone's time is valuable and we promise that any time that you can give us will be rewarding. Think about spending some time with us and remember to visit your Mountains.

For more information about CFA and opportunities to help out, please contact me, Jim Robbins at jimrobbins@comcast.net.

SUCCESS By Jim Robbins

The youth have been busy with picnic tables,(tearing apart and re-building), cutting wire for 250 wire cages to protect 250 Hemlocks that will be planted in Cunningham Falls State Park, maple sugar prep and collection, helping the Amish adults with the stable, at Greentop, and are now back to clearing the trail to Renner Commentary. The landscaping fabric and mulch have arrived and we will continue finish the trail now that the weather has improved. The last day for the youth will be June 8, 2017.

Partnership Profile: Friends of Maryland State Parks

By Mel Poole

Friends of Maryland State Parks turns 20 years old this year and CFA wishes to highlight their role in supporting parks and conservation.

Vision

Friends of Maryland State Parks (FMSP) seeks to be the primary catalyst across the state in raising awareness and appreciation of the “quality of life” benefits associated with the protection, preservation, improvement and expansion of Maryland State Parks for current and future generations.

Mission

FMSP strives to accomplish this vision by developing a passionate constituency of citizens and elected officials, who advocate for and support Maryland State Parks.

Focus

72 Maryland State Park units annually host over 12 million visitors with 500 paid staff and 6,000 volunteers supporting these visits. A recent estimate of the critical maintenance backlog in Maryland State Parks exceeds $40 million. The key focus of the Friends of Maryland State Parks Foundation is a membership that supports volunteerism in state parks, advocates statewide for state parks and fundraises for specific state park projects. The Foundation focuses on investments in our state parks that protect park resources, support critical maintenance and capital improvements, provide economic value to local economies, and sustain environmental education programs for children and healthy lifestyles for all citizens.

Accomplishments

- Advocated for 2007 State Park Funding Study and 2010 Economic and Visitor Impact Study
- Worked with Governor and MD Legislature to sustain Maryland State Park annual operating budget with Project Open Space funding
- Garnered $40M for Critical Maintenance over the next ten years (2025)
- Partnered to construct fence on War of 1812 battlefield at North Point State Park
- Participated in special events at North Point, Cunningham Falls, Fort Frederick, and the Maryland State Fair
